What is an Advance Statement of Preferences?

You have the right to make an Advance Statement of Preferences under the Mental Health and Wellbeing Act 2022.

This is a document you can make that explains what you want to happen if you receive compulsory assessment or treatment. It can include what kinds of treatment, support or care you want. You can make one at any time, even if you are in hospital.

The mental health and wellbeing service provider must make all reasonable (fair and sensible) efforts to do what's in your statement, but they are not legally bound to do so. If you have a treatment preference included in your statement, the mental health and wellbeing service provider can only require you to have a different treatment if they:

- think what you want isn't clinically appropriate, or
- can't provide what you want after they've taken all reasonable (fair and sensible) steps to try to provide it.

If they don't follow your preferences about treatment in your statement, they must tell you why in writing within 10 business days.

If you have made an Advance Statement of Preferences, it can't be amended. It will stay effective unless you want to cancel it. To do this you can:

- Use the Advance Statement of Preferences Revocation form available at health.vic to cancel your statement.
- Make a new statement and this will automatically cancel your current statement.

About this form

- This form must be witnessed by an adult (18 years of age or over), which means they must watch you sign the form. This can be anyone you choose, including friends, family, or support workers. A statement by the witness must also be included. See the witness declaration at the end of this form.
- When you fill in the form, give it to your mental health and wellbeing service provider. They will put a copy in your clinical file and record it in the hospital's electronic information system.
- You will need to keep a copy of the form for yourself in case you go to a different hospital or service. You can ask your mental health and wellbeing service provider to make copies for you. You can give a copy to your carer, support person, or nominated support person.

Contacts

This is the place to list anyone you want the mental health and wellbeing service provider to contact if you are placed under compulsory assessment or treatment. People listed can include a nominated support person, carer, friend, advocate, or mental health and wellbeing service provider. You can say if you want:

- The person notified that you are receiving compulsory assessment or treatment, and/or
- The mental health and wellbeing service provider to share information they have about your health, mental health, or disability with that person. This information includes what treatment the mental health and wellbeing service provider is providing you and what they think about your health.

IMHA will be automatically notified if you are placed on a compulsory treatment order, as well as when certain other actions are taken under the Mental Health and Wellbeing Act 2022. IMHA will contact you unless you have told them not to. You can 'opt-out' of this service by telling IMHA not to contact you. To do this:

- Call 9093 3701
- Visit www.imha.vic.gov.au to fill in the opt-out form
- Email IMHAcontact@imha.vic.gov.au

My communication needs

This is where you can list what helps you to communicate or understand information.

Do you need an interpreter? Yes No

If 'yes', which language? _____

What helps you to communicate? For example, written information, hearing aids, reading glasses.

My mental health

If you identify as having mental health issues, emotional distress, or a mental illness, you can list them here in your own words. If you don't identify as having a mental health issue, you could explain life challenges that affect you. This gives you the opportunity to explain your experience in your own words. You don't have to fill out this section if you don't want to.

Do you identify as having mental health issues, or a diagnosis of mental illness? What life challenges do you experience? How else might you describe your experience?

My treatment preferences and why

Here you can say what kind of treatment you want and do not want. 'Treatment' can include tablets, injections or electroconvulsive treatment. You can also include what helps you feel safe. If you want to, you can give reasons for each point to help people understand what has worked and not worked for you. If you do not want to have any treatment you can also list that here.

What treatments are helpful for you? Why are they helpful? What treatments are unhelpful for you? Why are they unhelpful?

Care and support information

Here you can put information about care and support.

What helps you to explain what you do and don't want? What helps you to make decisions? What other supports help you? For example, psychology or peer support? What practical supports do you need? (For example, dietary requirements) If you are taken to hospital, what might you need help with? For example, caring for children, other family members, kin or pets

Signature: _____

Date: _____

Witness declaration

- Only an adult can be a witness, meaning they must be 18 years of age or over.
- The witness must:
 - watch you sign the form; and
 - agree with the following declaration and sign it.
- The witness doesn't need to agree with the content of your Advance Statement of Preferences.

In my opinion, the person making this Advance Statement of Preferences understands:

- what an Advance Statement of Preferences is;
- the consequences of making the statement; and
- how to revoke it.

In my opinion, they appear to have made this Advance Statement of Preferences of their own free will and I have observed the above-named person signing the statement.
