

Personal Information Collection Statement – Specialist Women’s Mental Health Service Ramsay Clinic, Albert Road

The Specialist Women’s Mental Health Service is a collaboration between Alfred Health, Goulburn Valley Health and Ramsay Health Care (‘the Service’). This means that Alfred Health, Goulburn Valley Health and Ramsay Health Care are each jointly involved in the delivery of care, management and support to Service patients and work together to deliver the best possible care.

If you are a patient of the Service admitted at Ramsay Clinic, Albert Road to receive in-patient hospital care or to receive in-home care at your home, your personal information will be collected by Ramsay Clinic Albert Road during your admission and entered into Alfred Health’s electronic medical record for the purpose of providing you with care and treatment. Your personal information will be managed in accordance with this statement and each organisation’s Privacy Policy. A link to each organisation’s policy is set out below.

As a patient of the Service, your personal information may be disclosed by Ramsay or the other organisations involved in the collaboration to:

1. Alfred Health or Goulburn Valley Health for the purpose of providing you with ongoing or future care and treatment;
2. The Chief Psychiatrist of the Victorian Department of Health or the Authorised Officers of the Chief Psychiatrist for the purposes permitted by law; and
3. Alfred Health and/or Goulburn Valley Health for quality assurance purposes, clinical incident investigation and to assess the services being provided by the Women’s Mental Health Service.
